Frequently Asked Questions

What is the Stewardship Program?

Certain major systems in your home will need replacement over time. Since replacing these items is both expensive and critical to the health of your home, the Home Trust has developed a program to help our homeowners pay for major home system replacements and repairs (with limitations).

stewardship program does not cover systems that are your HOA's responsibility. And, since some homes have unique needs or systems, the Home Trust may have decided that additional systems are covered by the program.

What systems are covered?

Since every home is different, Home Trust staff can tell you exactly which systems in your home are covered by the stewardship program. As an example, the stewardship account may cover the:

- Roof and gutter system
- water heater
- central heating, ventilation, and air-conditioning system
- floor coverings
- exterior paint and siding
- termite treatment (including annual termite warranty inspections)

When are my home's systems eligible for replacement?

A system is eligible for replacement only when it has failed. Most non-mechanical systems (e.g. roofs, exterior paint/siding) are also eligible for replacement when they have reached the end of their expected lives or are showing obvious signs of premature failure. A system has failed when it does not function as required and cannot reasonably be repaired. The Stewardship Program will not cover replacement of a functional system, regardless of the way it looks, unless the system is non-mechanical and has reached the end of its expected life. Home Trust staff can tell you the life expectancies of your home's systems.

If you live in a development with a homeowner's association (HOA), the HOA may be responsible for maintenance of some of the systems listed above (the roof, exterior paint, and termite treatment, for example). The

How are life expectancies and replacement costs projected?

The Home Trust uses industry data as well as our experience. We do our best to make accurate projections, but we also have to make compromises in order to keep monthly fees affordable. For example, if we were to decrease our projected life expectancy for flooring from ten years to six years, your monthly fee would increase by about 15%. The assumptions, estimates, and projections that we make about the systems in your home won't be entirely accurate.

If the Home Trust approves my application to replace one of my home's systems, how much of the cost will be covered by the stewardship program?

With the exception of flooring, your home's stewardship account will cover the full actual cost to replace the system to a minimum standard. CHT reserves the right to request additional bids to ensure the cost is reasonable. You may choose to upgrade from the standard system however, you will be required to pay the difference.

How is the monthly fee determined? Do the fees change?

The Home Trust sets stewardship fees so that they cover the estimated, inflation-adjusted cost of periodically replacing your home's major systems over the next 30 years. Our cost and life-expectancy estimates are based on systems typically encountered in homes similar to yours. We do not adjust stewardship fees to match the exact makes, models, or life expectancies of the systems installed in your home. We may adjust stewardship fees once every year to cover increases in material and labor costs. Your fee cannot increase more than 5% from one year to the next.

How do I pay the fee?

When you enrolled in the Stewardship Program, you completed an 'Automatic Bank Draft Agreement' that allows the Home Trust to withdraw fees directly from your bank account. We make withdrawals on either the first or the fifteenth day of each month. (If the withdrawal falls on a weekend or holiday, it will be made the next business day.) Be sure you have enough money in your account to pay the fees. If we cannot make the withdrawal, we charge you $15 in addition to any fees your bank may charge. If you close or change your bank account, remember to notify us at least 5 business days before the next withdrawal.

Please note: All Home Trust homeowners pay a Use Fee in addition to the Stewardship Fee. Each monthly withdrawal from your bank account includes both fees.

What kind of repairs are covered under the Stewardship program?

Although Stewardship is primarily for replacing failed major systems, the Home Trust recognizes that some repairs can actually extend the service life of major systems. Therefore, repairs to your HVAC system roof, and siding are covered under certain limited conditions. Other system repairs are not covered at this time.

A homeowner pays the first $500.00 of any repair to these systems. If the repair can be covered by Homeowner's Insurance or HOA insurance, then the homeowner must apply for and use those funds as well. Only then can the stewardship program be accessed to pay any remaining amounts outstanding. As described below, stewardship funds can be used to pay the deductible if insurance is needed to provide a major repair or replacement.

If a homeowner is on an HVAC maintenance plan and can show the system has been serviced in the past 8 months, the $500 minimum requirement is waived for major HVAC repairs. In this case, the stewardship fund will pay for all repairs required for the system to function properly. The fund will not pay for routine maintenance (such as cleaning or filter changes), or voluntary upfits or upgrades.

The Stewardship Program is not intended to cover the routine maintenance needs of your home, nor is it a home-improvement account. It is simply a way to ensure that some money is available to replace or repair critical systems in your home. MOST OF THE REPAIRS AND MAINTENANCE REQUIRED FOR YOUR HOME DURING THE TIME YOU LIVE IN IT WILL NOT BE COVERED BY THE STEWARDSHIP PROGRAM. For example, repairs to plumbing, electrical systems, interior walls, and appliances ARE NOT COVERED under this program.

What if I want to replace my flooring before its expected life?

The estimated life of flooring is 10 years. If you want to replace the flooring with like-kind flooring you will be reimbursed up to a pre-determined rate per square foot for minimum standard carpet on a prorated basis. For example, if you choose to replace your 4-year-old flooring you will receive up to 4/10 of the pre-determined replacement value. If your flooring lasts 12 years instead of 10, you will receive up to 12/10 of the replacement value. Replacement value is calculated using a rate per square foot pre-determined by the Home Trust.

What if I want to upgrade my flooring?

If you decide you want to upgrade your carpet to laminate, hardwood, or luxury vinyl plank flooring before the 10-year life expectancy, you will be reimbursed up to the pre-determined rate per square foot at the full 10-year value. Only one premature upgrade is allowed. The pre-determined rate per square foot is based on minimum standard carpet cost, not the cost of the upgraded material.

What if the flooring I picked out, costs more or less than the amount the Stewardship Program will pay for?

If you choose to replace your flooring and the cost exceeds the allowable reimbursement amount, you are responsible for paying the difference. If you pick out flooring that is cheaper than the maximum reimbursement amount, you will only be reimbursed up to the actual cost of the new flooring.

Does it matter what flooring I pick out?

If you are putting carpet in your home, carpet must meet a minimum 10-year warranty standard. There are no additional requirements however, if the cost exceeds the maximum reimbursement amount, you are responsible for paying the difference.

I have hardwood floors in my home. Does the stewardship program pay to maintain my hardwoods?

If you have hardwood floors, you can use funds from your stewardship account to refinish the floor as needed. The amount available is calculated at the same pre-determined rate per square foot as replacement, and is prorated based on the time lapse between each time the flooring is refinished.

OK. Now something's gone wrong with my home, or I've identified a need for replacement. What do I do next?

Call us. We'll want to know which system you're calling about, how old it is, and what seems to be wrong with it. From there, we can help you start the process of applying for stewardship funds and getting the work done. If the problem is urgent, have it corrected. Don't worry about the stewardship application yet – our priority is to make sure your house is safe and habitable. We'll work with you to ensure you receive any stewardship funding you're entitled to.

Option 1 (RECOMMENDED): You may choose to coordinate the work with one of CHT's approved vendors. CHT can pay the vendor directly once the work is completed.

Option 2: You may choose to select your own vendor however you must pay the vendor directly and submit receipts for reimbursement.

WITH THE EXCEPTIONS OF EMERGENCIES (i.e. a roof leak or a non-functioning HVAC or hot water heater) ALL QUOTES AND/OR ESTIMATES MUST BE APPROVED BY CHT PRIOR TO THE WORK BEING STARTED.

A Home Trust representative must approve the work before any funds are disbursed to the vendor or for reimbursement.

Guidelines for stewardship account funding

CHT assesses applications for stewardship funding based on the following criteria:

1. Stewardship funds can only be used to replace home systems that have failed and cannot reasonably be repaired. Stewardship funds can additionally be used to replace non-mechanical systems that have exceeded their expected lives. Only specific systems in your home are covered by its stewardship account – CHT staff can tell you which ones are covered. The repair or replacement of other systems may be the responsibility of your homeowners' association or may be entirely your responsibility.
2. Stewardship funds cannot be used for items such as routine maintenance or repair, cosmetic changes, home improvement projects, or other similar work.
3. Stewardship funds cannot be used to repair or replace systems which are under warranty. CHT staff can help you with warranty service if necessary.
4. With the exception of flooring, stewardship funds cover in-kind replacements only. Stewardship funds cannot be used for a replacement that CHT determines is inferior to the quality of the existing system when it was new. CHT may determine that a proposed replacement will be inferior solely based on your choice to use an unapproved contractor or to perform the work yourself. At CHT's discretion, stewardship funds may be applied toward a replacement that CHT determines is superior to the quality of the existing system when it was new, but you will be responsible for paying the cost difference between an in-kind replacement and the better-quality replacement.
5. Funds are available for flooring replacement and hardwood repair only at a pre-determined rate per square foot and are prorated based on the actual life of the flooring.
6. CHT may, at its sole discretion, evaluate on a case-by-case basis any stewardship application, especially applications that CHT deems difficult to assess by the above criteria. Nevertheless, in all cases, CHT's decision will be guided by the need to preserve the long-term affordability and health of the property.
7. Repairs for covered systems—HVAC, roof, and exterior siding—are subject to a $500.00 owner payment, plus the use of insurance proceeds if the repair is covered by owner's insurance or the Homeowners Association insurance. Stewardship funds can then be accessed for any remaining outstanding balance. If the homeowner is on an annual maintenance plan for the HVAC system, and can prove the system has been serviced within the past 6 months, the $500 minimum requirement is waived.

CHT will only process requests for stewardship funding that include a complete application. CHT may request additional information and documentation before processing your application or disbursing stewardship funds. CHT evaluates proposed work and processes disbursements as follows:

1. CHT strongly encourages you to employ CHT-approved contractors for stewardship work. CHT disburses stewardship funds directly to approved contractors. Using an approved contractor limits your out-of-pocket expenses and provides assurance that the work will be prompt and professional.
2. If you employ an unapproved contractor, you still must use a licensed and insured professional. In this case, CHT disburses stewardship funds to you only after (a) the work passes CHT's inspections, (b) you provide all documentation reasonably requested by CHT, and (c) you provide evidence that you have paid the contractor in full. CHT discourages you from performing stewardship work yourself. Since the Stewardship Program is designed to cover full replacement costs, including both material and professional labor, CHT may reject do-it-yourself proposals without further explanation. Do-it-yourself proposals must include, at minimum, a detailed scope of work and data sheets for all materials. CHT approves do-it-yourself proposals only when it is obvious that the work will be professional quality. In this case, CHT disburses stewardship funds to you only after (a) the work passes CHT's inspections, (b) you provide all documentation reasonably requested by CHT, and (c) you provide evidence that you have paid for all materials and labor in full.

There is no guarantee you will be reimbursed in full or part if repairs/replacements are done outside of the scope of these guidelines. The Stewardship Program is not a home warranty or an insurance product.
